

[METHOD OF CHATTING THROUGH A CELLULAR PHONE SYSTEM]

Abstract of Disclosure

A method of chatting through a cellular phone system is disclosed. The cellular phone system includes a processor connected to an Internet website that supports network chatting, and a plurality of nodes. The method includes wirelessly connecting a plurality of cellular phones to the website via the plurality of nodes and the processor, sending a message by a cellular phone of the plurality of cellular phones to the website through a node of the plurality of nodes and the processor, and sending the message from the website to the plurality of cellular phones via the processor and the plurality of nodes.

Figures